Where Bomber Found

Thickly-Wooded Area Searched For Army Plane

Two Rancher-Woodsmen
Claim To Have Seen
Wreckage Monday

Morton, Wash. Feb. 4.—P. Surrounded by military secret, a force of soldiers with state and county officials undertook a trek today into a thickly-wooded region in quest of a wrecked army bomber which two rancher-woodsmen reported sighting yesterday.

A bomber with seven officers aboard, disappeared Jan. 16 on a flight from McChord field, Wash. It was feared, should this prove to be the wreckage, that all seven men were killed. The woodsmen said there was no sign of life at the scene.

Major C. B. Overacker, commander of the 3rd bombardment squadron, to which the plane and crew belonged, said that remains of the bomber probably would be dynamited after all possible salvage.

Col. Walter Peck, operations chief at McChord field, denied flimsy newspaper reports that the big plane which vanished from there was equipped with an army bomb sight. Previously he had expressed belief the craft had carried some type of bomb sight.

Colonel Peck said, however, that he would not be convinced the hill residents had discovered the bomber wreckage "until I actually see it."

He said the writer of conflicting reports he had received in the past two weeks had made him skeptical.

The men who brought word of the wreckage were Harry Studhalter and Tom Harper. Although authorities did not allow them to be questioned, Major Overacker said they told of seeing scattered parts of the plane from a vantage point about 200 yards distant.

Principal R. Y. Allison presented congratulatory letters to the straight A students and read the secondary honor roll list.

An alumnus, Paul Nelson, giving a little advice to the students, said: "If we make the best of it, we will never get the worst of it." James McNulty, one of the board of editors of the Keynote, and Doris Heinig, senior and winner of the good citizenship award, gave short talks. Roland Lang introduced the speakers.

Human Nature To Blame For All Our Ills

Rabbi Louis Mann
Tells Forum Need
For The Golden Rule

All the crucial problems which challenge civilization today are capable of solution if humankind would abandon selfishness, greed, hate and all the similar faults which beset it.

The Rev. Louis L. Mann, rabbi of Sinai temple, Chicago, made this statement here before last night's session of the Kiwanis forum while listing the crucial problems in the form of paradoxes.

There has been progress in physical power, but not progress in moral and spiritual power.

We have longer than at any period in the world's history, yet have a shorter time in which to make a living.

There is a multiplicity of occupations yet increasing unemployment.

We have an abundance of goods yet are trying to create a condition of scarcity.

In an age capable of over-production we are actually having under-consumption.

In an age of economic internationalism we are trying to resurrect a political nationalism.

We have more protection than at any time in the world's history yet less security.

We are using improved means for an unimproved end.

In general said the speaker, the progress of humankind has been Janus-faced—there have been progress in the right direction, yet a parallel, almost equal progress in the wrong direction.

Human Nature Faults

"There has been progress in invention, science, discovery, art, the mastery of nature on the one hand, but human nature, alas!"

In each of the latter centuries the speaker continued, there has been progress equal to all the progress of the preceding centuries, so that the dawn of this one was accompanied by hope for many blessings such as prolongation of life, alleviation of suffering, release from the burden of labor and the abolishment of war.

Out of that hope, said Rabbi Mann, has come disappointment, disillusionment, disenchantment and despair.

With respect to his first paradox, Rabbi Mann said: "The situation is comparable to a four-year-old child driving a 120-horsepower automobile on city streets."

Must Develop Morals

"Unless we have development in moral and spiritual power to equal that of increase in physical power, we will have built a Frankenstein that will destroy its maker."

Psychiatrist To Examine Love Slayer

Husband Admits He
Nearly Was Shot
By Another Man

A psychiatrist of the state department of public welfare will be sent to Kankakee to examine Omar Longtin, a prisoner in the county jail charged with the murder of Norma Altemus, Bracey.

States Attorney Joseph J. Tolson today received word that his request to that effect will be granted.

Longtin, 34, director of the public welfare department, has instructed Dr. Paul L. Schroeder, state criminologist, to send the expert here.

The psychiatrist will come to Kankakee as soon as the state attorney completes assembling of Longtin's record from the United States army and navy, the Kankakee state hospital and St. Charles state school for boys.

Mr. and Mrs. George Altemus, of Bradley, parents of the girl for whose murder Longtin is charged, today asked the Republican-News to say that they had not known of Longtin's employment in the state institution here. Had they known, they said, they would not have permitted their daughter to keep company with him.

Longtin was arrested yesterday afternoon as a "left-handed" valentine apparently meaning that figures on it are actuated from the left.

He said it looks something like a valentine received by both he and his wife from "Mrs. C." who, he said, was a friend of both of us.

But he said the valentine has "been worked over." They've been trying to pull strings on me for years," he added. When he first saw the valentine, he said, it was a "right-handed" one.

An Elbow-Jabber

One of the alleged acts of cruelty on the part of his wife, he said, was when she "poked" him with her elbow in bed. Asked if she was asleep at the time, he replied, "If she was asleep, I'd hate to have her do it when she was awake."

According to his wife of nagging, he said, "She goes so long and then something has to break loose."

"Mrs. C. says Mrs. Dyer is not the only woman with whom her husband has had friendships. He denied that he took up with a woman in Decatur."

Asked if it was true that this woman's husband committed suicide, he answered, "Well, he was looking for me with a shotgun."

Close Shave?

When the question was repeated, he said, "If I hadn't got out of there, I'd be dead too."

Two new suits for divorce were filed today in the office of Albert Tetrault, clerk of the circuit court.

Boy Scout Circus
Has Cast Of 350

To insure that acts and events will move swiftly at the Boy Scout circus to be presented at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the armory, timers and callmasters will be on hand to rub acts on or pull them off if they exceed their allotted time or "fall out."

The 350 boys who are preparing for the show in their troop meetings, however, have given scout leaders assurances they will be prepared to do their part in entertaining the crowd. They are assisted by more than 100 men in preparation of stunts.

In the animal act, the boys promise they will have eight horses, two elephants, three ostriches, one unaged tiger, "bullfighting bulls" and a general assortment of other quadrupeds, including the "world's famous milk cow Bessie"—all in costume, of course.

Some two dozen clowns are to be on hand to burlesque current events at frequent intervals, while acrobats, cowboys, Indians, scout life and the Kankakee high school band will pep and punch to the performance. Part of the program will be entirely unrehearsed, adding the quality of spontaneity to the show and demonstrating the scout motto, "Be Prepared."

Wife Counters Mate's Charges In Divorce

Husband Admits He
Nearly Was Shot
By Another Man

Mrs. Alice E. Dyer, employee of the Kankakee state hospital this morning took the witness stand in circuit court to deny that she ever hit her husband or knocked down his baggage.

This was in reply to the accusation against her of cruelty by her husband, Charles J. Dyer, also a hospital employee, who is seeking a divorce.

Mrs. Dyer also denied that a valentine on which is inscribed a sentimental verse, allegedly sent by her to her husband, was received by both her and her husband. When she saw it the first time, she said, it was in her husband's possession.

The valentine has been the subject of considerable questioning of the parties before Judge Luther B. Bratton yesterday and this morning.

Dyer described it yesterday afternoon as a "left-handed" valentine, apparently meaning that figures on it are actuated from the left.

He said it looks something like a valentine received by both he and his wife from "Mrs. C." who, he said, was a friend of both of us.

But he said the valentine has "been worked over." They've been trying to pull strings on me for years," he added. When he first saw the valentine, he said, it was a "right-handed" one.

Engine Explodes In Denver; Many Persons Injured

Boiler And Cab Of The Locomotive Hurdled
Sixty Feet

Denver, Feb. 4.—At least 22 persons were injured, some seriously, by the explosion of a large Denver & Rio Grande Western railroad passenger locomotive today as it was being pushed into the railroad yards in the southwest industrial section.

Several of the persons injured were motorists who had stopped at the intersection of Thirteenth street and Osage avenue for the train to cross.

The boiler and cab of the locomotive were hurled 60 feet into the air and thrown upside down on an empty railway express car. Before landing the boiler and cab arched over the locomotive immediately behind.

People Dazed

Leman Ray Shaffer, member of the first fire department rescue squad reaching the scene said, "We found people wandering around over a whole square block, so dazed they didn't know what they were doing. We just put them in ambulances and automobiles and sent them to hospitals."

Several of the dazed victims asked the firemen, "What's happened around here?"

Force of the blast blew windows and bricks from the Western Electric Roofing Co. plant, 25 feet from the tracks, and swung parked automobiles out of position.

Some members of a loading crew working on a track 50 feet away were injured.

Frank Hobbs, an employee of the roofing company, described the explosion as "an earthquake and a powder plant explosion rolled into one."

"About four of us were in the office, joking and kidding before going to work," Hobbs related. "A sudden terrific explosion knocked me backward. Some of the furniture flew around in the room and the walls seemed to jump."

Cars Blown Around Streets

"It was about 10 minutes before we were injured."

Causes Arrest Of Army And Navy Chiefs

Orders Suspension Of Civil Liberty Guarantees For 15 Days

By ARTHUR F. MONROE
Havana, Feb. 4.—(UP)—President Fulgencio Batista last night suppressed an incipient revolt, whose plans included an attempt to assassinate him, it was learned today.

Stern action taken by Batista during the night included the arrest of army and navy chiefs and suspension of civil liberty guarantees for the next 15 days.

The revolt allegedly was planned by supporters of Col. Angel A. Gonzalez, chief of the navy staff, who objected to Batista's orders to return to civil administration government departments which for some years have been under naval control. Gonzalez was said to have been supported by Col. Jose Pedraza, chief of the army staff.

Threaten To Fire on Palace

Friday night Batista summoned Gonzalez to the presidential palace in an effort to negotiate an amicable settlement. During the conference, supporters of Gonzalez, fearful that he would be detained at the palace, threatened to fire the guns of La Punta fortress at the entrance to Havana harbor on Batista's headquarters unless the naval chief were released at once, it was said.

Batista, it was understood, permitted Gonzalez to depart. Moving swiftly to crush opposition, Batista then demanded and obtained the resignation Saturday of Col. Bernado Garcia, chief of the national police.

Without waiting for Batista's appointment of a successor to Pedraza, the army chief of staff assumed command of the national police.

Late last night Batista, who was represented as feeling secure in having the support of most officers in the armed forces, drove to Camp Columbia, army headquarters outside Havana accompanied by two officers. One was Col. Manuel Benitez, chief of the Pinar Del Rio military district.

Takes Personal Command

At Camp Columbia, Batista informed the troops that he had taken personal command. Pedraza, who resigned at Camp Columbia, left his headquarters and went in search of Gonzalez for a conference. But Batista sent officers to apprehend Pedraza and take him back to Camp Columbia.

Even late last night, however, Gonzalez, at his headquarters at La Punta, rejected Batista's orders to relinquish his command.

Most reliable quarters said that after Gonzalez's rejection, Batista threatened to fire on La Punta with the guns from Cabana fortress, across the harbor from La Punta.

Gonzalez was reported to have surrendered at 1:40 a. m., ending temporarily at least opposition to Batista's regime. Well informed quarters alleged that in opposition to Batista's authority, supporters of (Continued On Page Four)

The only high school basketball game scheduled for Kankakee this week will be played in the Kankakee high school gymnasium tonight at 8:30 o'clock when St. Patrick's improved five faces Manteno in an effort to average a defeat suffered at the hands of Manteno a week ago.

When St. Patrick and Manteno tangled a week ago they staged a spirited struggle that resulted in a 25 to 21 triumph for Manteno on the latter's floor. The closeness of that game and the fact that tonight's contest will be played on St. Patrick's home floor should make for an interesting battle. While Manteno stayed near the top of the Kankakee Valley conference standings in its victory over St. Patrick, the Irish have suddenly hit a stride that seems certain to roll up a few victories before the curtain is lowered on the season.
